

GERMANS ALL
EXCITED ABOUT
SILESIA INVASION

ALSO CONSIDERS ULTIMATUM—
MAY SET UP WEAK CABINET
TO ACCEPT

CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

France—Mobilizing an army of 500,000 men to invade Germany "if any one of her obligations are evaded in any way." Fleet concentration at Brest.

Great Britain—Fleet movement cloaked in the greatest secrecy. Understood to be ready to stage a naval demonstration off German ports but not to attempt a blockade.

Germany—Planning to install a mediocre cabinet to accept the allied ultimatum.

United States—Considering invitation from the allies to resume her place on the reparations and ambassador conference and supreme council.

Berlin, May 6—Germany today prepared to set up a mediocre cabinet for the purpose of accepting the allied reparation terms, meanwhile turning the attention of the public to the Polish invasion of Upper Silesia.

Prince Buelow was mentioned as possible candidate for chancellor. The country was in fervent heat over the outbreak in Upper Silesia. As the result, discussion of the allied demands and even rebuilding of the cabinet took second place.

Germany offered her military forces to the entente for service in the Upper Silesia if the cabinet decides not to send an expedition on its own responsibility.

Dr. Stresemann was the chief candidate for the chancellorship with the possibility that Herr Stigewald would assume the foreign affairs portfolio. Little attention was paid to candidates for minor offices in the ministry, it being accepted that the cabinet career would end with the acceptance of the allied ultimatum.

Thirty of the allied terms particularly the drastic demand regarding disarmament and punishment of war criminals, led to some doubt that Stresemann would be able to form the cabinet.

Reparations Demands

Paris, May 6—Payment of one billion gold marks to the allies within twenty-five days is demanded of Germany in the ultimatum handed the German mission here by the reparations commission.

Publication of the note here today showed Berlin was expected to pay the allies 6,750,000,000 pounds in the following manner:

One billion gold marks, or $235,000,000, within twenty-five days.

Annual payment of 100,000,000 pounds, or $500,000,000.

50,000,000 pounds within three months. The sum is about $250,000,000. It applies on the first annual payment.

German exports can be taxed 25 per cent.

Germany is called upon to issue three series of bonds.

Germany is also called upon to deliver to any allied country what material she may need for repairs of devastated regions such delivery to apply on the reparations account.

France Mobilizing Half Million Men

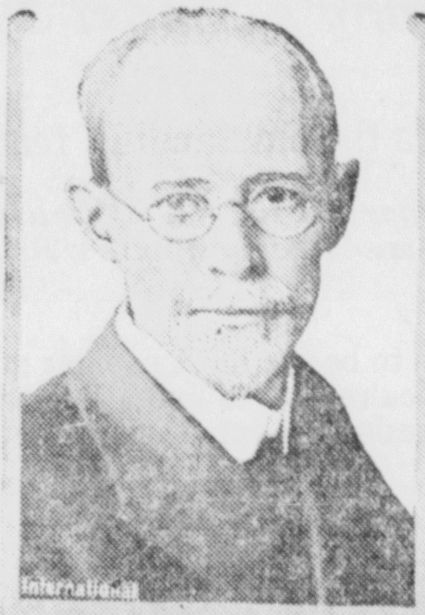

Paris, May 6—France today began mobilizing a half million soldiers to invade Germany at the slightest evasion of the allied terms.

"If any one of the obligations are evaded in any way we will invade," Premier Briand declared as he went into conference with President Millerand and the cabinet to complete final arrangements to enforce the allied demands.

France already has 132,000 men on the Rhine. Briand announced that even if Germany accepted the ultimatum, the class of 1919 called to the colors, will not be demobilized until the class of 1921 has been trained to replace it. The class of 1921 went into training camps two weeks ago.

Under the present arrangement a force of 150,000 men would constitute the first army of invasion. If it moves to the Rhine it will take with it two hundred tanks, several hun-

RICH COAL DEALER MURDERS BROTHER

WHO SOUGHT TO HAVE HIM ARRESTED FOR CHOKING HIS WIFE

(United Press)

Alton, Ill., May 6—Christopher Rain, wealthy coal dealer of this city, was arrested today charged with the murder of his brother John as a climax to a family quarrel.

Chris Rain and his wife attended a dance last night. Shortly after midnight Chris choked his wife almost into insensibility on the crowded dance floor after his wife had protested the attention her husband had paid to another woman.

John Rain, who also attended the dance, sought to have his brother arrested for attacking the woman.

At 1 A. M. police received a call from Chris who said he was going to John's home "to get him."

Police rushed to the home but found that Chris had been there before them. John was dead with a bullet wound in his head.

They went to Chris' home. They said the found him in a drunken stupor on a bed dressed with a revolver in his hand.

Police named Violet Bishop as the "other woman." They said Mrs. Chris Rain had attacked Violet with a horse whip recently, and on another occasion fired a shot at her while Violet was riding with Chris.

Governor Returns From New Orleans

(United Press)

Minneapolis, May 6—Governor Preus returned from New Orleans today and was to attend the funeral of Ira B. Mills with other state officials this afternoon. Mills died Tuesday.

50,000,000 pounds within three months. The sum is about $250,000,000. It applies on the first annual payment.

German exports can be taxed 25 per cent.

Germany is called upon to issue three series of bonds.

Germany is also called upon to deliver to any allied country what material she may need for repairs of devastated regions such delivery to apply on the reparations account.

France already has 132,000 men on the Rhine. Briand announced that even if Germany accepted the ultimatum, the class of 1919 called to the colors, will not be demobilized until the class of 1921 has been trained to replace it. The class of 1921 went into training camps two weeks ago.

Under the present arrangement a force of 150,000 men would constitute the first army of invasion. If it moves to the Rhine it will take with it two hundred tanks, several hundred armored cars, and twenty motorized batteries.

Large cavalry forces and engineer troops were said to be in readiness at Dusseldorf.

British Fleet Ready for Action

London, May 6—British squadrons are ready for action against Germany today. Preliminaries went ahead with secret plans and the admiralty was shrouded in mystery.

It was understood the fleet would contribute to naval demonstrations in German ports but there could be no blockade.

Mobilization continued quietly and without publicity.

U. S. Answer Invitation

Washington, May 6—An answer to the invitation that the United States participate in the allied conferences was understood to have been discussed and tentatively decided upon at the meeting of the president and his cabinet today.

Cabinet members on coming out of the conference room said that the president might have some announcement to make during the day on this question.

Secretary of State Hughes has an appointment with the president later this afternoon and it was believed that this might be for the purpose of having Harding finally pass upon the reply to the allied invitation.

MRS. STILLMAN IS ON THE DEFENSIVE

DR. RUSSELL TESTIFIED SHE TOLD HIM CANADIAN WAS
FATHER OF BOY
(By United Press)

New York, May 6—Mrs. James A. Stillman, for the first time since her divorce case became public, was fighting on the defensive today.

Still maintaining a brave front she conferred with her lawyers and gathered evidence to offset the attack launched by attorneys for Stillman.

Mrs. Stillman has from today until May 19 to prepare her counter attack.

Stillman's legal army was busy preparing fresh surprises to be used when the hearing is resumed before Referee Gleason on that date.

Latest developments in the legal fight were:

Testimony of Dr. Hugh Russell that Mrs. Stillman had told him in March, 1918, that Fred Beauvais, the French-Canadian guide, was the father of her boy, then unborn.

Beauvais Denies Letter

"Where the devil did they get that," Fred Beauvais exclaimed today when shown a copy of the alleged "dearest honey" letter which he is charged with having written to Mrs. James A. Stillman.

Beauvais' face turned scarlet with anger as he read the alleged letter and was informed by the United Press correspondent that it had been published in New York as having been used in the Stillman divorce hearings.

"I never addressed Mrs. Stillman in such terms," the alleged co-respondent asserted after a moment. "Someone has doctored a letter of mine, but this writing is not mine. They have made a great love letter writer out of me."

May Produce Double of Stillman

A mysterious "double" for James A. Stillman, former president of the National City bank, may be produced by his attorneys in his divorce suit, it was learned today.

Porto Rico Governor
Appointed; Duluth Collector Is Named

(By United Press)

Washington, May 6—E. Mont Reilly, of Kansas City, Mo., was formally named governor of Porto Rico by President Harding today.

Other nominations sent to the senate today include L. M. Willcuts, of Duluth, to be collector of internal revenue, District of Minnesota.

Beer Route Discovered

(United Press)

Minneapolis, May 6—A beer route under disguise of a milk route was discovered by police today.

They arrested Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pranderegger and seized their automobile. Seven five gallon cans filled with beer were found in the car. They were packed in ice.

U. S. Will Eventually Join League of Nations

(By United Press)

Paris, May 6—The United States eventually will join the league of nations, Rene Viviani declared today in a talk with newspapermen.

Viviani returned a short time ago from Washington where he went to learn the American attitude on the European and allied affairs.

Officers Fight—One Man Is Killed

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., May 6—A man identified as M. J. Madden, of Minot, is dead and two companions are in jail at Jamestown as a result of a running fight between Jamestown officers and alleged booze runners. The victim's car contained 35 cases of whiskey.

South Dakota Bank Robbed

(By United Press)

Huron, S. D., May 6—The First State bank of Wolsey was robbed of $3,000 by two men late Thursday. The cashier, Robert Bagger, fired several shots at the bandits as they fled in an automobile.

PACKERS TRADE
SLUMPS 256 MILLION
DURING LAST YEAR

TESTIFIES CHICAGO PACKER OP-POSING THE REGULATION OF PACKING INDUSTRY

(United Press)

Washington, May 6—The export trade of the big packers slumped $256,000,000 during the last year. Thomas E. Wilson of the Wilson & Company, told the house agricultural committee today in opposing the packer control legislation.

Meat producers, he declared, were saved 87 cents on every dollar the packers received for meat and the decrease in exports resulted in a loss to livestock raisers of $450,000,000.

In the year 1920 there was exported from the United States 1,200,000,000 fewer pounds of meat products than during the previous year, he said.

"It was this decrease that caused the lower prices to the producer," he said.

Shipping Board Officials Fired On

(United Press)

Savannah, Ga., May 6—Several shots were fired at shipping board officials here today as they were arranging to put strike breakers aboard the steamship Paulsen. No one was injured. Bricks were thrown in the fight.

Law Proposed to Exempt Newspapers
From Damages

(United Press)

Washington, May 6—A bill exempting newspapers from damage that might arise through publication of names of innocent men in the slacker list was introduced in the house today by Rep. Hill, of Maryland. The department of justice is directed to conduct the defense in all cases, and the government is ordered to "indemnify and hold harmless said newspapers for such damage."

U. S. REPRESENTED
SUPREME CONUCIL

PRESIDENT AND CABINET CON-SIDER THE MATTER—MAY HAVE REPRESENTATIVE

RAYMOND CLAPPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, May 6—America's answer to the invitation to join in deliberations of the allied supreme council, reparations commission and ambassador conferences, was expected to be considered by President Harding and his cabinet today.

Secretary Hughes, backed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, it is understood, takes the stand that the United States should have at least unofficial representation in the allied bodies to which this government has now been invited. Senate republican leaders, it is believed, may be persuaded to agree to unofficial American representation abroad for the time being, as a step to protect American rights.

Senator Lodge holds that American representatives cannot be delegated to the allied council without the consent of congress, and possibly without a special act of congress. The president could act without prerogatives by appointing an unofficial observer.

Sheppard-Towner
Bill Center of Big Legislative Battle

(By United Press)

Washington, May 6—The nation's women today are arraying themselves by the tens of thousands on one side or the other of the controversy which will go into congressional history as the "baby bill battle."

Not for years has any piece of legislation before congress caused such widespread popular reaction as the Sheppard-Towner bill for federal aid to the state in saving the lives of mothers and their infant children, according to senators now working on the measure. Senators are receiving hundreds of letters most from women, in regard to the bill.

The sentiment it seems is about evenly divided for and against the bill. Women's clubs and some civic organizations have endorsed them. Prominent women and men have written approval of the measure. Just as many clubs and civic societies and fully as important public persons have condemned it. Meanwhile mothers of the country who don't belong to clubs are writing their views in emphatic language.

The bill which has stirred up so much interest, is designed to reduce the high rate of mortality of mothers and infants by instructing prospective mothers in the hygiene of maternity and infancy.

Ex-Secretary Lane is at Rochester for Operation

(United Press)

Rochester, Minn., May 6—Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, was here today for an operation.

His condition was said to be serious. Dr. W. J. Mayo, the only one authorized to discuss the case, was in the operating room at 10 A. M. and could not be reached.

St. Mary's hospital attendants merely said that "Mr. Lane is here."

Attempt Made to Assas-

St. Paul, May 6—On Saturday, May 28th, amateur bicycle riders of the northwest, are expected to have a gala day at the Twin Cities.

Under the direction of the Boys' Athletic association and the St. Paul Daily News, bicycle races of one half mile, two miles and a road race for all amateur riders are to be staged.

It is expected that between 250 and 500 boys will compete. The races are to commence in the morning and the road race, leading from the state fair grounds into the suburbs and return about 20 miles, will be the grand finale.

Mayors of both cities are to be present and other public officials.

The first prize in the road race is a fully equipped bicycle valued at $70 besides a gold medal, extra tires, and other prizes.

The complete list includes tires, handle bars, coaster brake, gold and silver medals and many other articles of use to a bicycle rider.

Vocational Training

Grand Forks, May 6—A plea for vocational training was voiced by Dean Joseph Kennedy of the school of education of the North Dakota university when he declared that educators should keep in touch with the concrete. The balloon of education should not be cut until we are ready to soar, and even then we should make safe provisions for a return to earth," he declared.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Jury in Case of John Robin Vs Peter Newman Finds for the Plaintiff

7 ARRAIGNMENTS IN COURT

Four Indictments Returned Charged Robbery in the First Degree

In district court before Judge B. F. Wright the jury in John Robin vs Peter Newman found for the plaintiff and assessed his damages at $300. The plaintiff charged conversion of a span of mules.

The case of F. M. Koop vs Josiah D. Waite, et al was placed on the calendar on motion of respondent and judgment of the lower court affirmed by order.

In H. K. Dimmick vs First State bank of Cayuna, demurrer was sustained and judgment entered for defendant.

In A. B. Craper & Co. vs Farmers Shipping Association, continued by consent.

In Rade Dosen vs George Perpick the demurrer was sustained.

Arraignments, Etc.

William Zerby appeared before the court and entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment charging robbery in the first degree. M. E. Ryan appeared as his counsel.

John Gilbert Barney King and Walter Intil, on being required to plead to the charge of robbery in the first degree, informed the court that they had no attorney and had no means to employ counsel. The court appointed D. H. Fullerton as counsel and through him they pleaded not guilty.

Erland Westman was arraigned on two charges of carnal knowledge of two children under the age of 18 years and of the age of 15 years. A plea of not guilty was entered by his counsel, M. E. Ryan.

William Handeland was arraigned on an indictment charging carnal knowledge.

LET'S GO' PARTY

Mrs. E. P. Slipp Hostess at Her Home on Thursday, April 28, Many Friends Present

With the ladies entertained at the "Let's Go" party, given by Mrs. E. P. Slipp on her home, 302 Juniper street Thursday afternoon, April 28, were included those of the W. B. M. I. society who assisted in the different capacities as required by the afternoon program.

Mrs. Slipp called attention to the attitude manifested previous to the war, when ladies, socially, spent their time, more for enjoyment than profit, but who during the war, as true patriots, improved the time in the making of all forms of Red Cross work, thus assisting those who went forth to battle and also aided in the winning of the victory.

Of the 21 nations involved in the war, as allies of the U. S., from them was chosen China to which attention was given during the afternoon's entertainment, which opened with a literary program as follows:

Reading, "Old and New China"—Mrs. Irma C. Hartley.

Story, "Dr. Mary Stone"—Mrs. L. S. S.

Song, "Jesus Bids Us Shine"—Catherine Albright (In Chinese Costume).

Word-Picture, "A Day With a Missionary Doctor"—Mrs. D. E. Whitney.

Editorial, "China Famine"—Miss Sadie Robinson.

"America", sung by audience, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone at the piano.

As a preface to what followed, attention was further called to the time of war when "hundreds of women were trained in all forms of Red Cross work and when the war ended was over it was suggested that this special training be conserved in making supplies for Overseas Mission Hospitals." This suggestion put into action has formed what it called White Cross work.

Reports from Missionary doctors and trained nurses show the relief and joy at the prospect and realization of receiving supplies as furnished by the societies who have adopted their own overseas hospitals.

Mrs. F. Errington and Mrs. H. L. Jones then brought forward sewing upon which the ladies willingly and graciously entered into the spirit of the game to "Let's Go" and assist in the making up of such articles which will be sent to the Kate Ford Whitman Memorial hospital, Fenchow, Shansi, in the North China famine region. Reports from China, in January, show "more than half the patients in the said hospital were sufferers from famine."

Refreshments followed, in which Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. H. J. Spencer and Miss Robinson assisted while Miss May Whitely catered to the guests, aided by Miss Stella Erickson, Miss Lillian Irwin and little lady Albright.

Souvenirs were given of a pamphlet, containing "some pertinent questions answered," showing the Chinese characters for "Please Help," accompanied by a yellow tag, "showing the Chinese characters, 'I Have Helped'."

The hostess expressed to her guests her appreciation of their help in entertaining, also in the giving of a pleasant and profitable afternoon.

FAREWELL PARTY

Given for Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Rorem of Norwegian-Danish Lutheran Church, Soon to Leave

The Norwegian-Danish Lutheran congregation assembled at the church last Friday evening in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Rorem who will in the near future leave for their new field of work. A program was rendered at the close of which Mons Mahlum on behalf of the congregation presented to their pastor a magnificent leather rocker and a very handsome purse to Mrs. Rorem. Tables were set in the church parlor and a delicious lunch was enjoyed.

Laws That Must Be Obeyed.

Conditions are largely what people make them. If they observe national and economical law there is greater prospect of peace and plenty than when they ignorantly or deliberately violate them. When these laws are violated no man-made laws will change results.

Said Can't Be Done

"My experience with doctors and medicines caused me to lose faith in both, and when a friend told me that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy would cure my stomach trouble I told him 'it can't be done.' However, he finally persuaded me to try it and to my surprise it did. All symptoms of acute indigestion and gas having disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.

FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1921

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY

Thursday, May 12, is to be observed throughout the United States as National Hospital Day. The object of the day is to encourage communities to become more familiar with the service which their hospitals can give, and to acquaint the public with the needs of the hospitals. The day is set aside as part of the great campaign for public health in which governmental and private health organizations are engaged.

In communities where there are no hospitals the day might well be made the occasion for stimulating interest in supplying this need. The suggestion of a prominent physician for "a hospital in every county seat" might receive vigorous advancement.

Nothing serves a community like a hospital. Few organizations give so much for so comparatively little cost. When, in the modern way, the hospital acts not only as a center for the relief of disease but also as a center for teaching the best methods for its prevention and the road to public health generally, its value cannot be computed in dollars.

America has many fine institutions of this sort. Many more are needed. Those already established need more complete equipment and sounder financing. The public needs to understand more clearly all that the hospital can do. Establishing a special day to forward all these things is a bright idea.

HOOVER IS COMFORTING

Herbert Hoover: "We have much upon which to congratulate ourselves. Our difficulties are infinitely less than those of Europe; we have weathered the danger point of a great crisis; our financial system has proven its strength and for the first time we have passed safely through a commodity crisis without a monetary panic."

DAUGHERTY MAKES A SUGGESTION

Women "with positive conversational powers" can make a bigger dent in retail prices than the whole department of justice machinery, Attorney General Daugherty declared. A squad of women so equipped could do more with a dealer than the government, he said, adding that retail prices remained up despite the slump in wholesale figures, leaving profits in which he could see no reason in meats and other household commodities.

JAZZ DANCES BAD

Brainerd, Minn.
May 5, 1921

Editor Dispatch:

Kindly allow me a few lines in your paper as I am a subscriber. I have been reading the articles in your paper from time to time seemingly to arise from the pool hall situation and young men loitering on the street corners passing ill remarks about the girls and women who happen to be passing.

But now comes one to confess the moral fiber of the dances given at the Gardner hall. There are about 6 young men and 6 young women who have no morals or pride whatever when attending these dances. Why can't these few couple dance like the rest and try to have a respectable dance.

I would not blame the mayor and police of the city for the pool hall situation, congregating on street corners and vulgar dancing as most people think the mayor and police are to blame for this. No one is to blame but the parents. Why don't the parents teach their children any better? Don't blame the city for your children going wrong; blame yourself and tell them right from wrong.

This so called rotten dancing is exhibited at every dance given at the Gardner hall and is permitted. Why not have these people ordered from the hall? The dance given there last Saturday night was the worst of all. This ought to be stopped.

This vulgar dancing is not permitted at any other place in town, so why allow it at the Gardner Hall? I believe a police man ought to attend these dances and see that these jazz dancers are arrested or at least ordered from the hall.

Thanking you in advance I am yours for better and cleaner dances given at the Gardner Auditorium.

GAME WARDEN HAS VERY KEEN NOSE

A. P. Cardie Smelled Fish When He Walker Near the Car of Two Pipestone County Fishermen

INVESTIGATE THE CONTRABAND

2 Blackbass, 4 Pike, 4 Pickerel, 2 Redeyes, 1 Crappie, All Caught Out of Season

The keen nose of Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie proved the undoing of two fishermen, Fred Tebben of Wood Stalk, Pipestone county, and his brother, Henry Tebben of Canby.

As Cardie walked past the touring car he smelled fish, game fish.

"What you got in your load?" asked Cardie.

"Nothing but a few suckers," was the response.

"Doesn't smell like suckers to me," said Pete, and he dived under canvas and brought to light 2 black bass, 4 pike, 4 pickerel, 2 redeyes, 1 crappie, and one lone sucker. Everything was an illegal catch of fish with the exception of the sucker.

The Tebben brothers were taken before Judge J. H. Warner, pleaded guilty, and paid fines of $25 each. The game warden confiscated the fish, a flashlight and shotgun and permitted them to retain their car.

Rev. S. M. Kelly Formally Installed Pastor, First Presbyterian Church

On Thursday evening, by appointment of the Presbytery of Red River, the formal installation of Rev. S. M. Kelly as pastor over the Presbyterian church of Brainerd took place.

Rev. Murdock McLeod, D. D., pastor of the Grace Presbyterian church of Minneapolis and a warm personal friend of Rev. Kelly's preached the sermon. Dr. McLeod dealt with the value of a church to the community and emphasized the fourfold mission of the church which he said was first, Spiritual; secondly, Educational third, Social; and last Moral. Following the sermon the Rev. E. L. Kelly pastor of the church at Ironton put the regular questions to the pastor elect and the people and constituted the pastoral union. Rev. W. J. Hall, of Moorhead gave the charge to the people.

The Presbyterians of Brainerd have expressed themselves as being happy in the choice of their pastor and Rev. Kelly is not only finding a place in the hearts of his people but in the City of Brainerd as well.

PRESIDENT WILL TRAVEL AND TALK

WOULD NOT HAVE MUCH CHANCE FOR THAT IF HE WAITED FOR CONGRESS TO ADJOURN.

WILLING TO MAKE SPEECHES

His Appearance Not Always on National Occasions—Report That He Will Visit Alaska Before the Summer Is Over.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—President Harding apparently does not intend to wait on the adjournment of congress to begin his public appearances in different parts of the country as a speaker on occasions of civic importance. Probably the President realized from the record of congress since 1907 that if he waits on adjournment he will get few chances to leave Washington, for only in one or two years since that early date has there been any long extended breathing spell for the national legislators.

The President in reviewing the North Atlantic fleet as commander in chief of the navy, performs a service duty which all presidents undertake once or twice in the course of their incumbency of high office. Soon the President will begin his excursions into the civic field. Already he has filled one New York engagement, and made another one for the early fall at Birmingham, Ala. A delegation of citizens of Alabama came to the White House the other day headed by Senator Underwood, and asked the President to go to Birmingham within a few weeks, but he found this impossible, and promised to go later.

More than any other President who has held office in recent years, Mr. Harding seems to be willing to make speaking engagements on occasions which represent local activities rather than those of national life. Already he has spoken at the Gridiron club dinner in Washington, at an assembly of the Knights of Pythias, and soon he is to address an association of bankers in Washington.

New York Trip a Necessity.

The trip to New York the other day on the occasion of the unveiling of the statue of Samuel Bolivar was undertaken because no President with a due regard to international courtesies could have declined the invitation. Of course it is not intended to intimate that Mr. Harding did not want to go, but the occasion was one that demanded his presence. Bolivar was the Washington of South America. The President left the capital to take part in the Bolivar ceremonies at a time when duties were pressing heavily upon him.

Conferences are still going on between the President and the leaders of his party in congress concerning the later legislative program. When once his views definitely are understood by the party men who will attempt to carry them out in congress, the President will feel footloose to meet engagements in different parts of the country. It is said that he likes to make speeches and as he is known as something of an orator, rather of the old-day style, the average person likes to hear him speak.

Something has been said prior to this time about the chances that this

GEORGE H. CARTER

George H. Carter, a former Iowa newspaper man, has been named by the President as public printer. He served in various newspaper positions in Iowa and in Washington prior to 1911, when he became clerk of the joint congressional committee on printing.

could have declined the invitation. Of course it is not intended to intimate that Mr. Harding did not want to go, but the occasion was one that demanded his presence. Bolivar was the Washington of South America. The President left the capital to take part in the Bolivar ceremonies at a time when duties were pressing heavily upon him.

Conferences are still going on between the President and the leaders of his party in congress concerning the later legislative program. When once his views definitely are understood by the party men who will attempt to carry them out in congress, the President will feel footloose to meet engagements in different parts of the country. It is said that he likes to make speeches and as he is known as something of an orator, rather of the old-day style, the average person likes to hear him speak.

Something has been said prior to this time about the chances that this would be "a traveling administration." Secretary Denby started a trip of inspection of the North Atlantic fleet, then in southern waters, on the week he entered office. Assistant secretary of the Navy Roosevelt has followed suit. Announcement has just been made that Secretary Weeks soon will go to Panama to get an understanding of conditions there, which it is rumored are not of the best.

The civil administration and the army administration have their problems in Panama, and added to these, and as an inner part of them, it is said, there are labor troubles of one kind or another.

May Go to Alaska.
It is possible that before the summer is over President Harding will go to Alaska. If he does and undertakes to find out what is wrong with Alaska, if anything is wrong with it, he will have to listen to representatives of two sides of a sharp controversy. The Alaska railroad problem, just at present, is a perplexing one. Under the authority of congress a railroad has been built in Alaska by the government, and there are rumors that it is going to cost a great deal more than it was expected to cost, that it cannot make any money after it is completed, and that the line of its route was badly chosen from a business standpoint.

If the President goes to Alaska, he probably will take two of his cabinet officers with him, both of whom are concerned, in behalf of their departments, about matters in the territory. Secretary Fall of the Interior department today has under his charge the work of completing the Alaska railroad. The secretary probably will want to know all about the things as his predecessor in office handed them down to him. Secretary of the Navy Denby also is likely to go to Alaska with the President if the journey is undertaken. It was supposed in the beginning that the Alaska railroad would bring coal enough out of the territory to supply coal to the navy, and also to supply American domestic trade to some extent. It is said that there is some hitch in the coal matter.

Fruits Once Considered Medicine.

Many articles which we now use as food were formerly eaten as medicine. In the Middle Ages strawberries were prescribed as a cure for consumption and ulcers, and long after that Linnaeus described them in his works on botany as a remedy for gout. They were also recommended by the physicians of old as "excellent food to cure the liver, the blood and the spleen." In the British Isles today and perhaps in America, thousands of lassies and ladies swear by the strawberry as an aid to the complexion.

MAKE NEW FARMS AND NEW FARMERS

NEW COMMISSIONER OUTLINES HIS POLICY WITH REGARD TO IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

QUESTION OF DISTRIBUTION

Plan to Divert Newcomers From Big Cities to Agricultural Sections and Give Them Government Assistance in Establishing Themselves.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—The new commissioner general of immigration has taken office in the person of W. W. Husband, who succeeds Anthony J. Caminetti. Already the new commissioner has outlined in part his policies. Here is one thing he has said which touches the immigration problem in relation to the farming interests:

"Our plan is not to replace American farmers with foreigners but to create new farms and make new farmers, thereby increasing the resources of the nation. Our immigration problem is largely a problem of distribution of the immigrants. The majority of our immigrants are essentially farmers."

"We plan to group them somewhat on the European village plan, and offer them the advantages of expert agricultural and home demonstration instruction through the Department of Agriculture, and to aid them in taking advantage of the farm loan act. By handling the immigration problem in this manner we will do away with the Red danger."

Now on the strength of long residence in Washington as a more or less, perhaps much less, accurate chronicler of public events, it must be said that words of this kind have been heard before. The promise always has been made after a change of administration that the immigrants were to be directed away from the great cities into the agricultural districts.

Must Wait for Results.

Nobody wants to write in a carping spirit and such writing will not be done. The hope is simply that Mr. Husband will succeed in getting agricultural immigrants into sections of the country where they can engage in farming without doing anything to injure the prospects of the American farmer. It can be said, however, that it seems to be the intention of the Department of Labor, working with the Department of Agriculture, to put the plans which they have formed into effect and to carry the work through to success. The promise is for today and the performance must be of tomorrow. One must wait for results.

During the last campaign for the presidency men of both parties dwelt strongly and at considerable length on what it was necessary to do to strengthen the agricultural interests of the country, and to make the dwellers on the land happy and prosperous. In fact, prior to the Republican and Democratic conventions of last year every candidate for the nomination of either party spoke largely along farming lines. Men who did not know much about farming from personal experience talked with every assurance of certainty of knowledge, concerning tenant farmer problems, owner farmer problems, wheat problems, cattle problems, poultry problems and all other problems.

The problem of the farm will be one of the great problems of the present administration. The farmer probably has grown tired of hearing that he is "the backbone of the nation," "the chief reliance of his fellow countrymen in time of need," and of hearing a good many other nice things about himself. It seems to be taken for granted in Washington that it is going to be a hard thing so to direct matters that the producer on the land and the consumer of his products both will be satisfied. It is only the truth to say that various representatives of the farming interests differ in their demands for action. The farmers know this as well as anybody else and the Washington officials say that one of their problems of today is to coalesce the various suggestions for action so that general satisfaction will be the result.

Hard to Get at Truth.

The emergency tariff bill which passed the house of representatives and was killed in the senate, was intended to be of assistance to the agricultural interests of the country. It met with opposition which was more or less determined in its activities. It was charged in many quarters that it was unequal in its distribution of benefits; and that while it helped here it hurt there. It is hard to get at the truth in matters like this.

When the extra session assemblies, and the tax problems are out of the way, a general tariff revision bill will be introduced, and it will include many of the items which appeared in the emergency tariff bill. The effort will be to benefit the farmer. Whether the effort will be successful or not, nobody knows, but in a general way it can be said that the intention of the directors of legislation seems to be good.

It is certain that, if Immigration Commissioner Husband's plan of directing the steps of agricultural immigrants into the country where they shall become prosperous producers is successful, there will be rejoicing in some of the big cities of the land.

SICK VETERANS ASSURED OF CARE

PROPER PLAN OF REHABILITATION WILL BE PUT INTO OPERATION SOON.

COMMISSIONS IN AGREEMENT

Condition of So-Called Shell Shock
Patients in the Hospitals Is Pathetic—
Their Illness Not Due to Wounds or Concussion.

Washington.—Seemingly it is the belief of everybody interested—and who is not—in the work of the rehabilitation of wounded and sick veterans of the world war, that within a comparatively short time most of the grounds for criticism in the past will disappear and that comfort and all its proper attendants of care will be the lot of the men who fought and suffered.

It was a long time ago that a commission composed of well known physicians of the United States was appointed to consider the rehabilitation and rehospitalization problems. They made a report to the proper government official and today one of the leading doctors of the country has voiced the commission's satisfaction that the report which they made is almost identical with the recommendations submitted by the commission of ex-soldiers and civilians which President Harding recently appointed to consider the same subject.

A representative body of the doctors of the country, therefore, conceived a proper plan for rehabilitation, but it took driving work on the part of the representatives of the service men to secure sanction for putting it into operation. Congress probably will do its duty by the service men long before adjournment.

From one point of view the case of the so-called shell shock patients distributed in hospitals and institutions here and there throughout the United States is the most pathetic. Many men who were put into the shell shock class, although shell shock is not what the doctors call it, are now in a state of mental disturbance which in many instances precludes complete recovery. There is a distinction between shell shock and concussion, and physicians who know their work do not confuse the two, although the public often does.

Shell Shock and Concussion.

The man who suffers from concussion is just as much wounded as the man who has a rifle bullet through his lung, but many of the shell shock patients never underwent concussion, nor were they wounded in any way, although of course it is possible that a shell shocked man may have been wounded or have suffered from gas.

When men were examined for the service by the physicians, and apparently were in good physical trim, it was possible that some of them had nervous disorders which gave no surface manifestations, and perhaps the examined ones were ignorant of the condition themselves. It must be remembered that the United States raised a huge army in a short time and that the examining physicians could not give a great amount of time to each individual inspection.

The man who suffered from concussion on the field is the man near whom some great shell broke, but who escaped injury from the flying fragments but nevertheless temporarily was an occupant of the vacuum created by the action of the exploding shell. Put a man into a vacuum even for a second of time and all the air pressure is removed from within his body. There is an air pressure from within his body, however, and when the pressure from without is removed entirely, the inward pressure, having no resistance, expands his organs and some times injures them severely. This man, therefore, is a wounded man and he suffers from concussion and not from what is called shell shock.

In a Shell Shock Hospital.

Shell shock, as the trouble ordinarily is known to the layman, is an entirely different thing. Men whose nerve centres were diseased were just as much sick men as if they had smallpox, but as there were no outward appearances of the condition these men were allowed to go into battle. In most instances they made heroic fights against the inward condition which was paralyzing their functions. The nerves finally gave way under the shock of battle conditions, even though they were in no way injured by bullet, shell or gas.

In late September, 1918, I went into a so-called shell shock hospital in the advanced zone in France just out of reach of the long distance guns of the Germans. In this hospital there were perhaps 400 shell shock patients. They were pitiful objects. Some of them walked about the hospital wards dodging from side to side in order to get away from imaginary shells. Some of them were dumb, either being unable to speak or refusing because of their mental condition to say one word to anybody even in response to questions. Some of them were twisting their arms in the air, while others were lifting their feet high from the ground at every step that they took. These were shell shock patients whose nerve centers, diseased before they went into battle, gave way.

NEW LAWS WILL BE TESTED SOON

RESULTS OF SOME EMERGENCY LEGISLATION WILL BECOME APPARENT THIS SUMMER.

FARMERS' TARIFF IS FIRST

Whether the New Immigration Law Is Satisfactory Will Be Known Before
September—Tax and Permanent
Tariff Bills Come Later.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Congress is engaged in passing what may be called emergency legislation, and later it will continue to turn into laws many of the legislative requests made by the President and, as the Republican majority in congress views it, demanded by the people.

Within the next three months the people of the United States will have an opportunity to judge of the efficacy of some of the legislation which congress has passed. The emergency tariff measure which has been the target of a fire of criticism, as it has been the subject of paens of praise, will be one of the first measures to go upon the statute books, and it will be seen shortly whether or not it will afford the relief to the agricultural and other industries, which its friends claim for it.

Within four months the country will know whether or not the new immigration law is working satisfactorily. It puts a specific limit on the number of immigrants who may enter the country, but in times past it has been found that many ways of evading the law have been discovered by men eager to get into the United States. It is said that the new immigration law when it goes into operation will be proof against evasion, but no proof definitely can be established until the law has had full opportunity to be tested.

Possible Loophole in Alien Law.

An amendment to the measure which provides that people who can prove that they are fleeing to this country to escape religious persecution may enter, is one section which possibly may be found to furnish an evasion loophole. It is held that many immigrants from eastern countries may try to get in under this provision, for it is said they will make the general plea that their particular sect is being persecuted in the lands from which they come.

It is believed, however, that any person who seeks to get in on the ground of religious persecution will be compelled to prove a specific case, and will not be allowed to base his plea for entrance on the general assumption that, for instance, Jews are persecuted in Poland, or that Christians are persecuted in Turkey.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has recommended certain departmental reorganizations in order to secure economy. It is probable that many of the changes suggested will be made, and that before the autumn comes the people will know whether or not efficiency and economy have been served by putting Mr. Hoover's suggestions into effect.

It seems likely now that the German reparations problem will be solved before long. The State department recently advised the Germans to make another attempt to settle things up with the allies, and the Germans have been following out the suggestion, but have been doing it with a certain amount of circumspection and with a few acts which have looked like attempts to evade the terms which the allies originally laid down.

The administration has not been long in office, and it will not be much longer in power before the country can pretty definitely determine whether or not the initial legislative act suggested by it will produce the beneficial results which were claimed for them in advance. Naturally the Republicans say that everything will work for good, while equally the Democrats who have been opposed to some of these measures remain skeptical, but also seemingly they are willing to hide the issue.

Taxation Comes Later.

Tax and permanent tariff legislation will come later. These are the most important measures from the country's point of view and from the general interest point of view while are to come before congress this year. Everybody is looking for relief in some form or other from taxation. It is known definitely, of course, that taxes must remain high if the government is to continue to function but nevertheless there seems to be a feeling throughout the country that some kind of relief is to be experienced.

Not long ago certain of the leaders in congress suggested a shifting of the taxation burden from one place to another, or rather from certain shoulders to other shoulders. This would have been all right for men whose shoulders were relieved from the burden, but not all right for those upon whose shoulders the extra burden was to fall.

The administration has had a word to say about this shifting of the load of taxation. Apparently it does not want any shifting done. It has urged that additional sources of revenue be found which will not be a tax upon initiative, nor a tax which is to cripple industry.

Where Great Men Talk.

I think I can see the precise and distinguishing marks of national character more in these nonsensical mutterings than in the most important matters of state; where great men of all nations talk, and talk so much alike, that I would not give ninepence to choose among them.—Stearns.

There is pleasure in owning an article that costs little, gives daily enjoyment to many, and increases in value.

Finding of Gold in Australia.

The knowledge of Australia's wonderful resources of the precious metal dates from 1851. One day in April of that year there walked into the office of the chief secretary at Sydney a bushman named Hargreaves, who produced a tiny and closely folded bit of paper containing a few shining grains, so small and so few that the chief secretary had to put on his eyeglasses before he could see them. Nobody, it is said, ever got so much wealth out of an Australian mine as Hargreaves himself out of these grains, for he was rewarded for his discovery by an appointment as commissioner of crown lands, a grant of £10,000 and a pension of £250 from the New South Wales parliament. Later he received £5,000 from the colony of Victoria.

Chalmers knows
The NEW EDISON
gives his true voice

BECAUSE he has compared his voice with its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. Because thousands of people have heard this comparison. Because no one distinguished any difference between his living voice and his RE-CREATED voice.

Don't take the statement of an artist that a phonograph gives his true voice. See whether that phonograph can sustain the comparison test. If it can't, you know that such phonograph does not give you the artist's true voice, but merely a mechanical version of its own. Think about these things! "JOLLIES OF 1921" TO OPEN TONIGHT

Brainerd Elks' Lodge Great Minstrel Show to Play Two Nights Engagement in Brainerd

AT THE NEW PARK THEATRE

Finished Production Promised, Rehearsals Go Through Without a Single Hitch

The stage at the New Park theatre is set tonight for the opening show of the Elks minstrels, "The Jollies of 1921", which play a two days engagement in Brainerd, being Friday and Saturday evenings, May 6 and 7.

Rehearsals were held Thursday evening and the big production went through without a hitch. The ticket sale is speeding into high and main floor seats in the New Park are being rapidly sold.

The large number of out of town members at the Elks meeting Thursday evening promised to boost for the show and many said they would be present at the opening night, Friday, May 6.

The opening scene is a surprise party given in honor of H. P. Dunn, who is spending the winter months at Palm Beach, Florida, and his guests are sixteen pretty girls and eight young gentlemen. He has arranged to have a surprise party for his guests and brings on the minstrels.

Mrs. Mal D. Clark, one of the guests, sings "Starland". After the Mr. Dunn's minstrels arrive and take up the scene for 45 minutes of laughs and fun, introducing songs and jokes until the last song which Miss Norma Brady sings entitled "They'll Only Play My Wedding March in Ragtime", assisted by the end men and the company.

An intermission of 12 minutes follows and then comes act II, scene 1 "Up and Down Broadway". Eight men in an awkward squad drill and the result is a scream, the captain giving orders while a colored man plays one of the leads with the negro preacher in the front line trench and the German army making a lot of noise.

A song and dance novelty follows being a "Peachie" chorus of eight of Brainerd's prettiest girls displaying gorgeous costumes.

Then comes Ray DeRocher in his monolog, talking about anything and everything.

Scene IV shows the foyer of the Brainerd club in New York city, introducing "Songs of the Past" sung by A. C. Mraz, Mrs. Mal D. Clark and Miss Norma Brady and chorus of eight gentlemen and sixteen girls. A quartet A. C. Mraz, Dr. A. K. Cohen, John Bye and Wallace Hooker sing, and a new addition to the program is a saxophone quartet.

Then comes the "Mind Reading Episode", the funniest act on the bill. A. C. Mraz is "Prince Ali Ben Boozle" and Eugene White is his manager. Mr. White will pass through the audience and will take the different articles from people in the house and Mr. Mraz, who will be known as the Mattiff, or better known to his European friends as Prince Ali Ben Boozle.

Class Initiated
The Elks of Brainerd have always had the reputation of being a most active lodge and Thursday night was no exception.

A class was initiated in Elks hall, and a record attendance from Brainerd's lodge big jurisdiction brought many people from Crosby, Ironton, Deerwood and other range towns and visitors from St. Paul and Minneapolis. The house and social committee provided ample refreshments and for a change the menu included apple pie ala mode, coffee, doughnuts, etc.

The lodge extended a rising vote of thanks to the house and social committee of 1920 which instituted the great prize contest and to the house and social committee of 1921 which brought it to a successful conclusion. It also extended a rising vote of thanks to Norman Ziebel, who sold the largest number of tickets and to Walter F. unitz, second man in ticket sales.

Elks Booster
With cars and helpers over 2200 copies of the "Elks Booster", the 12 page Elks paper covering Elks activities and advertising the Elks show were distributed Wednesday afternoon and evening, and hundreds of other copies mailed out so as to make a total distribution of 3,000 copies.

Elks Queen Contest
The contest to select the queen of the Elks delegation visiting St. Cloud at the time of the state convention in August is arousing great interest. The lady selling the largest amount of tickets to "The Jollies of 1921" wins the honor, and included with this is all expenses paid to the convention. This contest closes at 6 o'clock Friday evening.

TO AID BUILDING

New Realty Company to Operate in Brainerd, Two Representatives of Company Here

The U. S. I. Realty company, a Minneapolis firm, with 19 years of successful business in home loans to its credit, has two representatives, R. R. Kimball and W. L. Lamberton of the company, in Brainerd interesting citizens in their home building plans.

The company has a three per cent plan by which prospective investors may acquire money with which to build or invest in property.

"We have been successfully building homes in this state for over 19 years", said Messrs. Kimball and Lamberton, "and enjoy the confidence of thousands of home owners. We are in a position to place money at the disposal of prospective builders at three per cent which is quite unusual in these times. Under our plan it is easier to own the property than it is to rent. It is a plan that meets the needs of the man who wishes to acquire a home of his own and to enjoy that home without sacrificing every pleasure to do it."

"One of the outstanding features of the plan is the fact that the loan may be paid back on the easy monthly payment basis. We are prepared to offer a contract that is non-forfeitable and one under which you can not lose a dollar. In the event of sickness or misfortune we are in a position to carry our clients indefinitely."

The home office of the company is at 215-223 Plymouth building, Minneapolis.

KEEP HIS PLAYERS

Ed. L. Shave, St. Paul Sporting Editor, Has a List of 60 Amateur and Semi-Pro Players

"Your home town baseball team sometimes is in need of baseball players for regular positions or to fill in. Ed. L. Shave, sporting editor of the St. Paul Daily News writes he has a list of 60 amateur and semi-professional baseball players for all positions, chiefly batteries.

For all Brainerd cares, Mr. Shave may keep his list. Brainerd last season experimented with a bunch of high salaried semi-professionals who were not amateurs when it came to pay and this town as well as many other towns in the vicinity has seen its fill of players who come for the coin and don't stay around long enough in a town to get the team practice which is the only thing that wins games.

The mere fact that Mr. Shave has a list of 60 players on his hand shows that the times of 1920 when towns were bidding for players has ceased and that from now on strictly home teams will be the rule.

BABY LOST FOR HOURS IS FOUND

Two Year Baby Toddles Away From Home of Parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Potter

LIVE IN SOUTH LONG LAKE

Sheriff Theorin and Two Cars of Men Aid in Search, Baby Found in Heavy Brush

Spring is here and the wanderlust seized Baby Potter, age 2 years, a child of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Potter of South Long Lake. Baby Potter determined to explore the vicinity of the farm and set out on the expedition early Thursday afternoon.

Supper time came and still no baby in sight and the frantic parents, aided by scores of neighbors, searched byways and highways. A call was put in with Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and with two automobile loads of men further search was instituted.

At 8 o'clock in the evening Baby Potter was found in a clump of brush fully a mile from the home. The child was fast asleep. Shoes were torn and clothes had suffered from the trip. The child physically did not appear any the worse for its experience and after loving care and attention was revived.

Successful Concert

The concert given by Malven Norby, tenor, at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church on Tuesday evening was very heartily enjoyed by the large audience who heard him. Mr. Norby has a beautiful tenor voice and sings with an appeal that is deeply felt. He has a wholesome taste in his choice of songs. His concert will be long remembered because of the inspiration and glory of songs well sung.

IN COLLEGE PROGRAM

Miss Mildred O'Brien in College Series Recital at College of Saint Teresa, Winona

Miss Mildred O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Con O'Brien, participated in one of the college series recitals of the College of Saint Teresa of Winona. Miss O'Brien is a sophomore at Saint Teresa's and in addition to her college work she is doing work in the conservatory in the department of piano.

The selections she played were "Album Leaf" by Liebling, "Arabesque in G" by Debussy, "Tarantelle Op. 13" by Mills, "Minuet Antico" by Seebeck, "Serenade in D" by Chaminade, "Dance of the Gnomes" by Liszt.

Also taking part in the recital was Miss Martha Tillmont, soprano.

The programs in the college series are given by students who in addition to full college work carry some conservatory work.

NOTICE

A meeting will be held in Trades and Labor Hall, Iron Exchange Bldg. on Saturday evening at 7:30. Re "The Milk Ordinance" which is to be voted on by the City Council on May 16th, 1921.

The Committee desires to give a Public hearing to all who are interested in this subject. Let us get together and discuss this matter, so that we may get behind an ordinance that while protecting the consumer will not penalize the small producer.

A telegram has been received from the State Board of Health stating that Dr. Archibald will arrive Saturday noon to discuss the milk ordinance at the meeting.

When Jack fell down and broke his crown,
He also wrenched his spine;
And from that spill upon the hill,
One leg was out of line.

His HEART was sad, his STOMACH bad,
His KIDNEYS, too, were shirking;
But the Chiro quick, gave Jack a lick,
That put him back to working.

IN TURKEY REFORM SPRINGS ETERNAL

Turkey bids fair to "come back," in a limited sense at least, as a result of the proposed revision of the Sevres treaty that dismembered the Ottoman empire after the World war. It will be a changed Turkey, to be sure, but change is not new in the country that inherited Mohammed's religious empire. Paradoxically, Turkey, though it has a tradition of national inertia, also is a land of kaleidoscopic reform, and may be said to react to reforms more discriminately than any other country in or out of Christendom. The Turks have adopted some reforms bodily and some partially, and have rejected others flatly even when the prestige of the Caliph and Allah's ministers was behind them.

Turkey began its existence on a foundation of reform, the empire inheriting the comprehensive reshaping of the religious and social world instituted by Mohammed. It "went dry" just 629 years before the United States, for its "eighteenth amendment" was not an amendment at all, but a part, so to speak, of the organic act when the empire came into existence in 1259.

Even in the matter of polygamy, looked at askance by the western world, Mohammed and the government which took up his mantle were reformers. The legal maximum number of wives was placed at four.

Even the jokes of coffee and tobacco prohibition that have gone the rounds of the American vaudeville stage came near being a reality in Turkey. Mohammedan scholars culminated against the steaming cup; and one sultan went so far as to prohibit the use of tobacco, fearing that it was taking too firm a hold on his people. But the populace refused to have the prophet's covenant changed and the ban was raised.

Though the reported passing of the fez is looked upon as a reform which to western eyes would remove something as distinctively Turkish as the star and crescent, the introduction of the gaudy skull cap was itself a reform effected less than a hundred years ago; and staunch old Moslems of that time wagged their heads in warning as the reckless reformers cast aside their dignified turbans for the new bauble. To the Turkish Tories of those days the fez traveled in company sufficiently disreputable to damn it utterly. It was introduced forcibly into the army by the Sultan Mahmud II in the early part of the nineteenth century along with tight European trousers and frock coats.

The fez and turban types of head coverings have a definite reason for existence in Turkey, and it is to be doubted that they will be discarded entirely, especially for the brimmed hats and visored caps of Europeans. Mohammedan rules and customs call for covered heads at prayer; and they also require that at one stage of prayer the votary shall touch his nose and forehead to the ground, a feat that is impossible if he wears a hat with a protruding brim.

PACIFIC ISLAND GARDEN SPOT

With the shifting of ownership that has taken place among the islands of the Pacific and the growing importance of that great body of water in international affairs, the holdings of the various nations in the Pacific are taking on new value. One of the most important of the French Pacific possessions is Tahiti, or the Society Islands, with steamship connection to San Francisco and New Zealand. They are described in the following communication to the National Geographic Society from H. W. Smith:

"Like the Summits, the Society Islands are of volcanic origin, rising from the low bed of the ocean, which has depths near the islands of 1,500 to 12,000 feet, while the highest peak, in the center of the island of Tahiti, reaches an altitude of 7,300 feet."

"Near Papeete the beautiful Fatoua valley may be visited in an afternoon. For a good part of the way a carriage road leads up the valley, offering changing vistas."

"Why, indeed, should the Tahitian toll? There are great leaves of the wild 'taro' growing by the roadside; the young leaves are delicious boiled, and the curious stranger will find many other new delicacies of the table—the alligator pear, the baked papaya, the Mantis crab, the raw fish, as good as the best oyster."

"In Tahiti, as well as in most of the South Sea Islands, great numbers of coconuts are grown. The meat, after being dried into copra, is shipped in large quantities to Europe. We were much interested in the different methods of gathering the nuts in various islands. In Tahiti the natives climb the trees with the help of a strip of green, fibrous bark torn off the stem of a Hibiscus tree. After knotting the two ends together, the climber slips his feet half through the circle, and standing with his legs apart, so as to stretch the thong tight, ascends the tree in a series of leaps with a foot on each side of the trunk.

"In its fresh, green state the coconut provides a most refreshing drink, but as it grows older the 'milk' hardens and forms the white inner rind with which we are all familiar. When dried this is the celebrated copra and is commercially put to many different uses. In Tahiti it is used for sauces and for coconut oil. One sauce, which was served with fish, at a very enjoyable picnic, although compounded of scraped nut and sea-water, was palatable."

FORMER AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASE NOW ITALIAN STRONGHOLD

Pola, formerly important to Austria as its naval base, now is equally important to Italy, for a different reason. A glance at a map of the Adriatic will show that the possession of Pola, and the recent acquisition of the island of Cherso, by the terms of the Rapallo agreement, give Italy control of the water route to Fiume.

Situated near the extremity of the Istrian peninsula, 85 miles by rail southwest of Trieste, Pola's sole important activity before the war was connected with the repairing, provisioning and harboring of the Austrian naval forces. The town is virtually without industrial establishments or manufactures.

In 1900 the population of Pola was about what it had been eighteen centuries before under the rule of Roman emperors. During the succeeding ten years, however, it grew from 45,000 to 70,000.

The practically land-locked harbor is divided, the upper or northern half being the commercial roadstead, and the lower half (below the chain bridge which connects Scoglio Olivi, or Olive Island, with the mainland) being the Porto Militare, with the extensive marine arsenal on the southeastern shore.

The city itself clusters around a castle-crowned hill which was once the site of the Roman capital. The castle is a memento of the days of Venetian prowess.

Its settlement is attributed to the Colchians who pursued Jason and his argonauts. Pola's splendid harbor became a Roman possession in 178 B. C., but Julius Caesar destroyed it for having espoused the cause of Pompey. Some years later it was rebuilt by the Emperor Augustus at the instance, according to Pliny, of his beloved daughter Julia.

The most impressive ruin in Pola is the vast amphitheater, erected at the beginning of the Christian era in honor of the emperors, Septimius Severus and Caracalla. This is believed to be the only Roman amphitheater whose outer walls have withstood the ravages of time and of man. The interior, however, is badly dismantled and the foundation walls, at one end, centuries ago, were extensively quarried by the Venetians who desired the white Istrian limestone for the erection of their own palaces.

About the middle of the 12th century Pola became a Venetian city. In the destructive wars, which resulted from the rivalry between Venice and Genoa to control the commerce of the world two centuries later, this port across the Adriatic from its parent republic suffered often and grievously. It was completely destroyed in 1379, and for nearly four and a half centuries it lay dormant. It passed to Austria at the end of the Napoleonic wars, however, and its modern growth dates from 1848, when it was selected as an Austrian naval base.

Pola lies almost due east of Venice, a distance of 75 miles across the Adriatic.

ICELAND: LACKS ICE AND RAILROADS

Carrying ice to Iceland will appear to most persons about as reasonable as carrying wheat to the Dakotas, cotton to Texas or beans to Boston. But according to press dispatches the Icelanders made an appeal during the past winter to Norway, the nearest European country, to ship them ice in order that they might save their herding harvest from being spoiled by the mild weather.

The land which has come down in history as Iceland might with more accuracy have been given a diametrically opposite title, and called "The Land of Fire." The surface of no other country, perhaps, is so deeply marked by the withering blasts that well up from time to time; and in no country of equal area are to be found so many volcanic peaks and vents. Nearly 5,000 square miles of the 40,000 of the country's area are covered by lava flows.

Iceland is approximately the size of Ohio and about 8,000 square miles larger than Ireland. It is only a short distance off the European coast of Greenland, and its northernmost cape just touches the Arctic circle. From there the midnight sun can be seen. In spite of its position so near the North pole, Iceland, thanks to the Gulf stream, has a relatively mild winter climate. Reykjavik, the capital, is in the same latitude as Nome, Alaska, but has a January temperature milder than that of Munich, Germany, or Milan, Italy.

Icelandic summers, however, are cool, due to the large fields of ice that float down from the North. Grain cannot be grown satisfactorily, and all breadstuffs must be imported.

Though Icelanders, faced by implacable natural forces and conditions, have been unable to achieve any great degree of physical development on their lava-covered, short-summered island, they have made notable advances in less material fields. A truly remarkable literary development sprang up in this far northern island in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, a full hundred years before the Renaissance began to make itself felt in sunny Italy.

In more recent times the Icelanders have shown themselves to be in advance of many parts of the world in their social and political ideas. Women had full political privileges in Iceland earlier probably than in any other civilized country. At the present time part of the Althing, the Icelandic parliament, is elected by proportional representation. Votes for women is not the only mark which feminism has placed on the life of Iceland. The custom of women retaining their own names when they marry is more general in Iceland, perhaps, than in any other modern country.

The political status of Iceland is in some ways peculiar. In effect it might be said to be an autonomous state in partnership with Denmark. It has no army or navy and is under no obligation to contribute either men or money to the Danish military forces. Denmark recognizes the country's permanent neutrality. Furthermore, the present arrangement is only temporary, and after December 31, 1940, either of the associated countries may demand a revision of the "Act of Union" which now unites them.

Facts About Cocoa Tree.

The cocoa tree grows wild in Central America and South America and was cultivated in Mexico and Peru long before the coming of Columbus. It is a small tree a dozen feet or more high, with evergreen leaves and axillate flowers which appear in clusters on the main trunk or large branches, so that the fruits are attached directly to the older parts of the tree rather than to the tips of the younger branches. The fruit, which ripens in from two to four months, is bean-shaped, nearly a foot long, yellowish-brown or purplish in color and marked with about ten ribs. The seeds, some of which are obtained from different sources grown on different varieties of cocoa trees, and the brand are blended as is done with coffee.

Buddhist Priests Tame Fish.

There is a certain bend of a certain river in Burma, where the fish are venerated, tamed, treated as pets and called to meals by priests. Just why this particular bend of this special river should be so signally set apart is not known, but as these priests are Buddhists there is perhaps a connection between this favoritism and the fact that in every land where Buddhism is the faith, there are certain places dedicated to Buddha, and strange superstitions woven about the place. These fish are a species of catfish which grow to a large size, and they swim to the bank when called. The priests not only feed the fish, but they pet them as we do a dog or a cat. Some are so tame they do not even squirm in fright when they are picked out of the water and gently handled.

Peach Kernel a Cough Remedy.

The most popular cough medicine among the Chinese is a white powder made from the kernels of peach stones.
